Nature . Trying to find a few sunny, calm hours in mid October seems to be rather difficult this year. The flooded green in Seaton and the river's high water level testify to the recent high rainfall. So I am quick to grab the chance when one particular afternoon offers a brighter interlude. The valley is devoid of wind compared to the coast and I anticipate that any bank of vegetation facing the sun would hold a few dragonflies. Sure enough the first I see is a Common Darter, a small, orange-red species that readily rests on paths and benches. This is a typical species of autumn and if the season continues to be mild you can still see one or two flying in November and even December. However, I am on the lookout for a larger species and on reaching one of the ponds it does not take long to note a male Common Hawker. It is dark in colour but as it flies close to me its blue and yellow spots are apparent. This large species is a powerful flier and rests low on vegetation surrounding the pond. As I watch this individual there is a noisy clash of wings as it comes across another male; seconds later it seizes a browner female. Like the darter this hawk can also be seen late in the year. One big difference, however, is that the larval development of the hawk can take three or four years compared to the single year of the darter. As I leave the scene I pick out a Red Admiral and the odd hoverfly. A Jay flies across the valley and I hear the distant call of a Great Spotted Woodpecker. Autumn still has much to reveal.

News from County Hall-Richard Pugh

Collecting your bins, repairing potholes and providing street lighting is just a fraction of the service offered by Cornwall Council. To emphasise just how diverse the services are we have produced a new “helping hand” leaflet and webpage to help people find out just how we can help. Among the services it promotes are

- 1) A handyperson service to help older people with repairs without a big bill.
- 2) Lifeline personal alarms to keep people safe in their homes.
- 3) Traveline South West to help you plan journeys by public transport.
- 4) Home choice to help find an affordable home to rent.
- 5) Access to computers for free in our libraries and free beginners IT lessons across Cornwall.

The new leaflet will be distributed across Cornwall in the next few weeks and a new web page detailing all of these services and more can be found at www.cornwall.gov.uk/helpinghand . Cornwall Council are trying to help as many residents as it can and in the 2018/19 financial year answered 876,000 phone calls. Helping hand will make a real difference to people lives. Public transport in Cornwall has received a significant boost with the Chancellor's promise of a £23.5m funding package over the next 4 years for a "reduced Bus Fares" pilot to support the Councils ongoing commitment to improving bus and rail fares for its residents. Due to begin in May 2020, Cornwall is the first rural area to be given the opportunity to run and fund a pilot scheme like this one to bring down the cost of travelling by bus. Last year 19.2 million journeys were made on public transport in Cornwall. On behalf of Cornwall Residents the Council has welcomed a promise from the government to replace EU funding in Cornwall with a like-for-like dedicated fund that could be worth up to 600 million over the next decade. If I can help anybody with Council related issues please contact me on 01503 220768 or richard.pugh@cornwallcouncillors.org.uk

Next we 'Kick Off Christmas' on Sunday, 1st December, also at the same venue, a light-hearted concert to get everybody in the Christmas mood. We have been invited to sing under the prestigious Christmas Garland at Cotehele on Wednesday, 4th December at 1pm and also at 2pm. Again, another wonderful setting at Mount Edgcumbe, when we sing on the main staircase on Saturday, 7th December during the afternoon. Finally, we join our friends at Donderry at The Zone, to sing at their annual afternoon Carol service.

Simple ways to save the planet – Dream big

Most of you will have seen the news about the Extinction Rebellion actions in London and beyond during October, and there may be many of you who have wondered what it is all about. Perhaps you were angry about the disruption, or looked for ways in which the protestors might be considered hypocritical. This is a natural response. None of us want to feel our lifestyles are challenged. The reason for the rebellion is simple; many of us have campaigned on environmental issues for years and the problems are now reaching a climax with more carbon entering the atmosphere than ever. The twelve years we had to divert a climate disaster has now become eleven. The government is very good at saying it's doing things, but it is placing trust in carbon capturing technology that is yet to be developed. So what do we want? Now is the time to dream big and believe! When in Amsterdam we saw a society that uses the bike as a primary transport. Why? There were cycleways everywhere, so it was safe to cycle. In Morocco and Turkey they have cheap taxi sharing systems. In Switzerland there was no litter, but there were public recycling bins everywhere. So what can be done better? Here's a few things that spring to mind. Stop investing in oil and put more into renewables. Insist on all new buildings being carbon neutral. Introduce flying rationing and aviation fuel tax. Create community composting bins. Invest money from energy intensive schemes such as HS2 into local railway infrastructure. Add footpaths and cycleways to new roads as standard and work on cycleways to connect A to B. These are just my ideas, but what do you think? Our train and bus services in Cornwall have improved exponentially as a result of lobbying and speaking to sympathetic councillors. There's never been a time when it's been so necessary to put pen to paper and lobby. If enough of us do so, then change can happen. Lizzy S.

Hessenford WI President Jackie welcomed everyone, including two visitors, to our meeting. Miriam told us about the Centenary Memorial Service at Truro Cathedral which she attended with Yvonne. She took part in the Banner parade into the Cathedral where they were met by the Lord Lieutenant. The Dean then gave an interesting address about the history of "Jerusalem" before the congregation sang it with much pride. Marie, Miriam, Angela B and Jean thoroughly enjoyed Duloe W.I.'s Tea Party which was in support of cancer research, dementia and coeliac disease. Jackie then demonstrated making Christmas cards using a die cutting machine. She had provided all the materials necessary and we all thoroughly enjoyed creating our own very attractive cards. I wonder who the lucky recipients will be? Our next meeting at Widegates Hall is on Tuesday 5th November at 7p.m. It is an Open Meeting with Andy Bristow giving a talk and slide presentation entitled "Sailing in the Arctic". So please do come and join us. Rose Gething

St Germans Thursday Club

The October day-trip to Wadebridge and the Trelawney Garden Centre went well. We had a full bus. We're pleased to say that a few more members have discovered the small but interesting and free Wadebridge Museum, run by volunteers. The Country Market in the Town Hall is popular, too. Our next Thursday Club outing on the 28th November will be an all-day trip to Truro for Christmas shopping (or museum/library/or tea-shop). We will be leaving from the Triangle St Germans (top of Quay Road), at 9:30 am, and from other points as requested. This is a popular trip, so book soon if you haven't already. Priority to members, of course. Bookings - Trish Gregory at 230697. Keep thinking up ideas for next year's programme - the draft programme will be discussed by the Club within the next few meetings, and speakers, outings and activities will be selected. We'd love to have you join us. New members and visitors welcome. Membership still only £10 a year. Chairperson - Brenda Crago 01752- 851199

Community First Responder Group - Claire Croft

News from Downterry & Seaton Residents Association - DaSRA

DaSRA is currently engaged with the following issues of interest to residents, so here is an update as of 17th of October, the deadline for copy to Nut Tree. Seaton Play Area: Cornwall Council's (CC's) first Consultation inviting preferences for the proposed regeneration of the Play Area has now been completed. A DaSRA Working Group involving parents and a Deviock Parish Councillor (DPC) is meeting CC in late October to consider proposals for the next stage of design and for equipment. CC is planning for the new site to be completed by March 2020. CC's Consultation on Restriction of Dogs on Beaches continues until 19 November, so a gentle reminder to residents to respond to the Consultation, online at www.cornwall.gov.uk/dogsonbeaches. Inn on the Shore ANPR Cameras in Car Park: the appearance of Automatic Number Plate Recognition cameras in the pub's car park in early October came as a surprise. The Parish Council, alongside DaSRA and residents directly affected by the camera, are liaising together on this topic. DaSRA has asked Punch Tavern who own the site for a statement explaining this move which, once received, will be on the DaSRA website. Also, DaSRA is supporting local residents in raising awareness of the need to protect Looe Hill from the severe risk of coastal erosion. On a celebratory note, DaSRA's published Calendar 2020 celebrating Local Artists is available for sale, at £6.50, in Downterry from the Shop, Blue Plate and Summink Different, and in Seaton from The Beach Cafe and The Beach House. These are fast moving agendas so do keep an eye on DaSRA's website for updates. www.dasra.co.uk. This is an active agenda for your Residents Association and its five Committee Members. We would benefit from greater input from residents so if you have an interest in, or have skills and knowledge to offer that would be of benefit to your fellow residents, thus improving the quality of life in our lovely villages, please do contact me by email at info@dasra.co.uk Laura Done, Chair, 01503 250911.

Hessenford News No doubt many of you have been thinking you should be planting rice with the deluge of rain we've been inundated with just recently but at least as I write this the sun is shining and we have just beaten the Australians at rugby, which I expect will have pleased many of you! Dave's pleased to say that all errant ducks are now back in their pen, thanks to Mark & Petra's dog Killian and the efforts of Philip when clearing downstream in Seaton Country Park. Our Harvest Festival donations were greatly appreciated by the Food Bank so thank you to everyone who contributed both to this and the enjoyable and tasty shared lunch that took place after the service. We would love as many of you as possible to join in our Remembrance Service at the War Memorial on Monday, 11th November starting at 10.45am to show our respect for those individuals who gave their lives. It would be lovely to have a large crowd and stop the traffic! I hope you've all seen that Bethany is hosting an Art Exhibition at the Copley Arms on Saturday, 2nd

November to raise funds for Mind mental health charity and if you can't attend the event you can always donate on-line. Of course if you've got tickets booked you'll be welcomed with a glass of Prosecco and be entertained during the evening with live music from Rachel and Michael. Don't forget the place to be on Sunday, 24th between 3.30 & 6.00pm is the Annual Christmas Gift and Craft Fair at The Copley, so come & spend some pennies and enjoy the festive atmosphere. And finally don't forget to contact me, Fran, if there's anything going on that needs a mention, I'm always glad of a bit of news from the grapevine. Gardening tips of the month: Remember to check out Alison's table. Clear up fallen leaves. Raise containers onto pot feet to prevent water logging. Plant those bulbs – tulips, daffodils, hyacinth and don't forget the garlic - for a spring display next year. Prune roses to prevent wind-rock. Plant out winter bedding. Cover brassicas with netting if pigeons are a problem. Insulate outdoor containers from frost. Stop winter moth damage to fruit trees using grease bands around the trunks. Put out bird food to encourage winter birds into the garden. Use a seasonal bonfire to dispose of excess debris unfit for composting. Thought for the Month: If you see someone without a smile give them one of yours. Dates for your diary/calendar: Port Eliot Firework Display, Tuesday 5th Nov; St Germans; Open Mic Night, Wednesday 6th Nov for all you budding musicians, the Copley Arms Hossenford; Glass Shack Christmas Decoration Workshops, various dates in November, Donderry. Quite simply we need your help. We need more drivers so that we can sustain our community bus service. We have a great team, but none of us are getting any younger and we need new recruits.

It is not onerous volunteering. One day a month would make all the difference. Please contact me at the tel. no. below to discuss how to get started.

In the next few weeks we have a very busy schedule including several trips designed to help out with the joys of Christmas shopping in addition to our regular services.

During November we will be visiting both Tavistock on Friday November 8 and Truro on Wednesday November 20. There will also be a trip to Trago Mills on Saturday November 9. During December in addition to the regular weekly services to Plymouth (Tuesdays) and to Liskeard (Thursdays) and to Looe (the first Monday of the month), you will be able to travel to Exeter, Tavistock and twice to Truro. So let the community bus take the strain. Avoid the stress and cost of parking and we will bring your Christmas shopping back safe and sound. In December we will visit Exeter on Wednesday 4, Tavistock for the town's Dickensian evening on Friday 6 departing from Donderry at 4pm, Truro for the Victorian market on Wednesday 11 departing from Donderry at 4pm, with a daytime trip too to Truro on Wednesday 18. We also have a trip to Trago Mills on Saturday, December 14, but unfortunately this will be the last of our monthly services on this route, as demand has been very weak all year, and the route is no longer economic to operate. We have left it in the programme for December, however, to help hopefully with the Christmas shopping.

Kevin Done, Community Bus chairman, 01503 250911.
